

Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 27 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Sunny spells with heavy thundery showers.

Today:

A cloudy day with showers along the south coast at first, quickly becoming more widespread. During the afternoon, heavy showers are likely to form more organised bands that move very slowly northwards. Risk of thunder and high rainfall accumulations. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Tonight:

Heavy showers with risk of thunderstorms continuing throughout the evening. Becoming dry in the south east later. Cloudy throughout the night with fog patches over higher ground. Minimum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Monday:

Cloud will start to break up early in the morning, allowing some sunny spells before showers start to form. Heavy thundery showers returning to the South East by evening. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:

An unsettled outlook with showers possible most days. During the afternoon, showers are likely to be heavy and slow-moving, possibly with some thunder. Chance of drier but cloudy conditions Thursday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.